

The development has the potential to affect protected species, however, Natural England was not consulted as no information was provided in this regard and the application was also recommended for refusal on other grounds.