

The Council was content with the application as a whole and its principles. The only point they wanted to make was a request that the materials and the design of the glass and metal fixings be consistent with the next nearest property with glass balconies. The consistency of design for Oyster Quays has become fragmented despite the conservation area listing and we would like to see a standard start to develop for changes to the facias that reflect this issue.