Dear Rachael,

Planning Application Consultation Request X/23/94505

Thank you for your consultation. I must confess to some residual uncertainty as to the progress of the planning application. I am aware that in relation to RM/19/86186 archaeological concerns were raised which have been secured by archaeological conditions. The preliminary archaeological survey has been carried out but the archaeological mitigation secured by condition 22 remains to be addressed.

In relation to the determination of the current application would condition 22 of RM/19/86186 continue to apply, in which case I am happy to continue to rely on that condition to secure an appropriate level of archaeological mitigation. However if the issuing of a new permission will supersede that condition I would recommend that the condition is repeated on any new planning permission issued in order to secure archaeological mitigation as indicated by the results of the preliminary archaeological survey,

Yours sincerely
