

Hampshire & Isle of Wight

Published 1940 - 1945

Source map scale - 1:2,500

The historical maps shown were reproduced from maps predominantly held at the scale adopted for England, Wales and Scotland in the 1840s. In 1854 the 1:2,500 scale was adopted for mapping urban areas and by 1896 it covered the whole of what were considered to be the cultivated parts of Great Britain. The first edition of the Ordnance Survey's 1:2,500 scale maps was published in 1896. Before 1938, OS maps were produced in the Cassini Projection, with independent surveys of a single county or group of counties, giving rise to significant inaccuracies in outlying areas.

Ordnance Survey Plan

Published 1963 - 1964

Source map scale - 1:2,500

The historical maps shown were reproduced from maps predominantly held at the scale applied for England, Wales and Scotland in the 1840's. In 1854 the 1:2,500 scale was adopted for mapping urban areas and by 1896 it covered the whole of what were considered to be the cultivated parts of Great Britain. It was replaced by the 1:62,500 scale in 1938. The OS map was projected with independent surveys of a single county or group of counties, giving rise to significant inaccuracies in outlying areas.

Additional SIMs

Published 1963 - 1990

Source map scale - 1:2,500

The SIM cards (Ordnance Survey's 'Survey of Information on Microfilm') are further, minor editions of mapping which were produced and published in between the main editions as an area was updated. They date from 1947 to 1994, and contain detailed information on buildings, roads and land-use. These maps were produced at both 1:2,500 and 1:12,500 scales.

Large Scale National Grid Data superseded SIM cards (Ordnance Survey's 'Survey of Information on Microfilm') in 1992, and continued to be produced until 1999. These maps were the forerunners of digital mapping and so provide detailed information on houses and roads, but tend to show less information about features such as vegetation. These maps were produced at both 1:2,500 and 1:1,250 scales.
