Hello Rebecca,

Thanks for forwarding the tracking plans for consideration.

I can confirm that they would be acceptable from a highway perspective and as such would not form a reason for a highway objection.

The tracking drawings demonstrate that all movements for both cars and a refuse vehicle can be undertaken within the confines of designated lanes, except for the northbound movement of the refuse vehicle when exiting site. However this would be acceptable in this specific case given the infrequencies of such movements along with the good level of visibility achievable.

Regards,
Matt.
