Elizabeth Phillips	8 WALNUT CLOSE CHANDLER'S FORD EASTLEIGH SO53 5RQ	I received an identical letter in March with information about a request for planning permission at 17B Hazel Close and was delighted to get an e mail informing me that permission had been granted for a single storey extension to which I have no objection at all. Is this a new way of having more success if planning permission has already been granted for one storey? So , having already sent you my objection to the original application I now have to send it again. I wish to object to this application on the grounds of being overlooked and the subsequent loss of privacy. The first floor extension window will certainly compromise my privacy in all aspects of my property at the back including most of my garden, particularly the lounge, the conservatory and my extension which is only a single storey. Over the years we have lived here the site involved has changed from a bungalow to two semi detached houses with a garage which is very close to my fence. The row of trees which gave us all some privacy have been recently removed obviously to make room for the extension. Several silver birch trees have also been cut down over the years too. If this two storey extension is allowed to proceed then this area will become even more built up.
